Tragedy At Sea Fatal To 3 Girls

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Three small girls were trapped in their beds and burned to death by an explosion and fire that destroyed a yacht in San Pedro channel four miles off the harbor light early this morning.

The father of two of them, sisters, was burned seriously trying to fight his way through roaring gasoline flames to rescue them. He and two other men and three women were forced to take to a small skiff and were attacked by the flames fighting up the morning darkness.

The dead: Viola Timberlake, 11, Vivian Timberlake, 9, her sister; Elsie Teague, 10.

Father Injured

L. E. Timberlake, father of the two sisters, was seared about the face and hands before the flames forced him overboard. The other five, less seriously burned, were Mrs. Timberlake, Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood A. Teague, parents of the third child and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burg. The Burges and Teagues are of Beverly Hills, Cal., and the Timberlakes of Los Angeles.

Shortly after midnight the party left San Pedro aboard the 50-foot power yacht "Truant." They planned to sail for Santa Catalina Island 33 miles off the Southern California coast for the week end.

At approximately 2 a. m. the coast guard patrol boat Aurora was starting out to sea for search for a missing barge when Boatswain John Davis sighted the flare from the yacht.

Rushing at full speed four miles, the patrol boat arrived alongside to find the yacht in rearing flames, from bow to stern. Five of the survivors were in a small skiff and Burg was floundering in the water.

Had Been Sleeping

From hysterical and burned survivors' stories, the coast guard learned that the three girls and one of the women, Mrs. Burg had been asleep in the cabin, forward of the engine room. The others were in the stern control cockpit.

As the blast shot flames from the engine room, Mrs. Burg staggered out sleepily. Before she realized the children were left behind, flaming gasoline splattered the cabin and trapped the girls.

LODGE MASTER TO VISIT S. A.

Masonic lodges of Orange county have completed plans for a dinner and reception to be tendered Rollie W. Miller, grand master of the Grand Lodge of California, at 6:30 p. m., September 24 when he pays his official visit to the 100th and 101st districts.

The dinner will be held in the Masonic Temple, Santa Ana, under the leadership of Worshipful Master Leslie Pearson, acting as the host lodge. According to A. H. Allen, district inspector and member of the Grand Lodge, this will be the highest light of the year in Orange county Masonic affairs.

Returned From Hawaii

Grand Master Miller has recently returned from his official visit to the Masonic lodges of the Hawaiian Islands which are under jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of California. In addition to his Hawaiian trip Grand Master Miller has spent considerable time visiting lodges in the "Mother Land" country of the state.

Allen said today that Miller will undoubtedly have considerable interesting information to give members of the Orange county lodges when he meets with them.

"MOTOR HOTEL" PLANNED FOR TOURIST VISITORS TO S. A.

Possibility of construction of a "Motel" for accommodation of automobile travelers in Santa Ana is looming today following the recent statement here, by an official of the All-Year Club of California that such accommodations are needed if Santa Ana is to attract its share of tourist travel that is coming to this state.

The "Motel" is a motor hotel for the accommodation of the automobile tourist and, according to the All-Year Club representative, should be constructed one of the principal highways leading into the city.

He pointed out that Santa Ana is one of the few cities of its size in California that does not offer such accommodations to automobile tourists.

Start Investigation

Following the visit to Santa Ana of the All-Year Club representative, several local groups have started investigation of the possibilities.

Russia Sends Anti-Aircraft Guns To China

U. S. INSISTS JAPAN QUIT CHINA ZONE

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Russia is sending 150 anti-aircraft guns to China in addition to 250 army airplanes, the newspaper Miyako said today.

NANKING MOSCOW AIRLINE OPENED

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(UP)—A direct airline between Nanking and Moscow has been opened, paving the way for military co-operation between China and Russia, a Japanese military spokesman intimated today.

The spokesman said the present Chinese air line from Nanking to Lanchow, in the sparsely-settled Chinese northwest, has been extended to Chukuchak, in Russian-dominated territory in Turkestan. There it connects with the Soviet line to Moscow.

Line Opened

Service was opened Aug. 26, when two planes carrying 15 passengers, including Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, Sun Fo and Chin Lee-Fu, made a round trip flight.

"Inauguration of this air line apparently is a result of the Chinese-Soviet treaty announced this month in Nanking and Moscow," the spokesman said.

It was pointed out that Soviet airplanes being imported by China for military purposes will follow this route in coming to Nanking. Landing fields, service equipment, and gasoline stores will be established along the route.

FEDERAL MEN SEEK BANDITS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Special squads of G-men searched gangland haunts today for six desperadoes who became the nation's most hunted public enemies when the Justice Department offered rewards totaling $12,500 for their capture.

There is only one unidentified fugitive on the public enemy list—the slayer of little Charles Mattson, 19, Tacoma, Wash., victim of the nation's only unsolved kidnapping.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings singled out the Mattson kidnaper public enemy No. 1 with an offer of $10,000 reward for information leading to his capture.

Members of marauding gangs in the Midwest and south comprise the remainder of the public enemy list. Cummings offered rewards of $500 for information leading to the apprehension of each of the desperadoes. They are:

Alfred Brady, 26, sought as the leader of a midwestern gang whose members boasted they would "put Dillinger in the shade" and his companions, Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., 29 and James Dalhove, 30.

Hugh Gant, 36 and Alva Dewey Hunt, 38, brothers-in-law and co-leaders of a gang which has

New Record Established By Aviator

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Frank W. Fuller, San Francisco sportsman who broke two records to capture the trans-continental Bendix trophy race, returns here today to receive the plaudits of thousands of aviation followers gathered for the National Air Races.

The races opened yesterday by the spectacular Bendix competition. Two qualifying races to determine 10 starters in tomorrow's $15,000 Louis W. Greve trophy race were today's features.

Records Fall

Fuller sped his low-wing Seversky fighter over the Cleveland airport 7 hours, 54 minutes and 26 seconds after he left Los Angeles, and roared on to New York to set a new Bendix mark of 9 hours, 36 minutes.

His time in the race to Cleveland broke the record set by Capt. James H. Hazlip in 1932, and his trans-continental mark bettered the one established in 1934 by Col. Roscoe Turner.

Jacqueline Cochran, only woman flier in the race, was the first to leave Los Angeles and the first to reach Cleveland. She ranked third in the final standings, based on elapsed time. In second place was Earl Ortman, of Los Angeles, fourth place went to Frank Sinclair.

PLAN PARADE BUT FEAR RIOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The San Francisco Labor Council voted early today to call a parade of union workers on Labor Day despite hostilities between American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization members.

Heated debates and sharp clashes on the floor predicted the vote in favor of the parade.

"It will mean bloodshed," one member of the council shouted. "If we don't want bloodshed we had better call it off."

"Keep the women and children home," another member said. "We've got to have bloodshed sooner or later and we might as well have the fight now and get it over with."

Other members pointed out that 400 musicians already had been engaged to play in bands with the parade and since they would have to be paid they might as well have the parade.

No union leader would be quoted as to whether the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. members would walk in the same line of march.

DUST CLOUD SAVES ANAHEIM CAR THIEF

ANAHEIM, Sept. 4.—A car thief probably unwittingly outsmarted two Anaheim officers early today when he drove the stolen car into an orange grove, stirring up such a cloud of dust that it acted as a screen to aid his escape.

Sergeant Ted Wilder and Officer Grant Rude observed a car weaving about the road at 3 o'clock this morning and followed it north on Clementine. Suddenly the car turned off the road and into a small orange grove, striking a tree and blowing out a tire. A thick cloud of dust was stirred up and Wilder and Rude lost sight of their man, who sped away on foot.

The car was discovered to have been stolen from Ray Pryor, of Norwalk.

CATTLE INSPECTION CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

MERCED, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Merced, described as "the darkest cattle raising spot in the United States," by District Attorney F. A. Silveria, was the scene today of an intensive bovine tuberculosis testing campaign by state veterinarians.

According to Silveria, Merced county is the only one in the nation with more than 15 per cent infection in dairy herds. Permission to make the tests was secured only after protracted litigation in the courts and spirited opposition by dairymen.

C. I. O. PLEA FOR PEACE TURNED DOWN BY A. F. L.

FINISH FIGHT DECLARED BY LABOR GROUP

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Harry Bridges, West Coast director of the Committee for Industrial Organization, today accused organized San Francisco business men of fomenting and supporting the "war to a finish" which virtually has paralyzed the waterfront of San Francisco Bay.

In a letter to the San Francisco Central Labor Council he declared:

"The issue involved is not the C. I. O. or the American Federation of Labor. It is the issue of the peaceful reopening of struck plants, would not be in office 'for long.' Davey's term ends next year.

Without referring to him by name, Lewis said:

"It is illogical one who has supported at Labor's table and who has been sheltered in Labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both Labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

The indirect reference to Mr. Roosevelt added weight to repeated reports of a "break" between the president and Lewis.

In his speech nationally broadcast over the Columbia network, Lewis made his first open bid for farm support. He did not ask for political backing by agriculture but defined an economic community of interests between agriculture and industrial labor.

The C. I. O. is now unionizing sharecroppers, cannery and farm workers. Labor's non-partisan league, of which he is chairman, which he considers a C. I. O. "political arm," is seeking to form alliances with farm political groups.

Lewis assailed "propaganda" linking the C. I. O. and Communism. He said his trade union philosophy controverted Communism.

THOUSANDS SLAIN AS LOYAL TROOPS ROUT NATIONALISTS

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's offensive on the Aragon front has been broken and thousands of his German, Italian and Moorish troops have been slain, the Spanish loyalist government announced jubilantly today.

The loyalists took the strategic first major victory won by the loyalists since the beginning of the war. Franco had scored victories on almost every front, with the exception of Madrid.

The eastern offensive was the largest ever attempted by the government. Under Gen. Sebastian Pozas, gray-haired commander of the republican army before the civil war, the loyalists sent 200,000 troops, at least 200 airplanes, hundreds of tanks and nearly 1000 trucks equipped with machine guns, to the eastern front approximately 150 miles northeast of Madrid.

The troops that entered Belchite were under direct command of Gen. Enrique Lister.

The Valencia war office estimated that at least 1500 nationalist soldiers were killed and 500 taken prisoners.

GERMAN "VISITOR" INVITED TO LEAVE

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Gerhardt Herman Bartels, 17, of Germany, who boasted too loudly that he "swam a river to get into the United States," was in the county jail today facing deportation to his home country.

Bartels allegedly entered the United States illegally in New York City by deserting a ship in March, 1935, and again entered illegally from Mexico last April, after going there to work in the oil fields.

Compulsory military training faced him in Germany when he reached the age of 20, his main reason for not wanting to return to that country, according to Bartels' own story.

DIVA UNDER KNIFE; CONDITION IS GOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Grace Moore, diva and movie songbird, continued in "good" condition today after an abdominal operation.

The surgery, performed yesterday, was reported to have been of a minor nature. Miss Moore was expected to be out of the hospital in 10 days.

LEWIS DECLARES POLITICAL WAR AGAINST CIO OPPONENTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—John L. Lewis marshalled his forces today for a campaign of political action against the opponents of his Committee for Industrial Organization.

The labor leader clarified his peaceful reopening of struck plants, would not be in office "for long." Davey's term ends next year.

Break Predicted

The indirect reference to Mr. Roosevelt added weight to repeated reports of a "break" between the president and Lewis.

In his speech nationally broadcast over the Columbia network, Lewis made his first open bid for farm support. He did not ask for political backing by agriculture but defined an economic community of interests between agriculture and industrial labor.

ALICE FAYE WEDS HOLLYWOOD SINGER

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Alice Faye, one of the "glamour girls" of the Hollywood screen, and Tony Martin, youthful crooner who shot to film fame recently, were married here today by Judge Henry C. Kelly after an airplane elopement from Hollywood.

Both gave their ages as 22. They were married in the law library on the second floor of the courthouse. Two friends, identified as Helene Holmes and Claude H. Smith, attended them.

The actress and her prospective bridegroom arrived at Yuma airport at 2:10 p. m. MST, and were pronounced man and wife by Judge Kelly at 2:45 p. m.

G-Men Seek Suspect In Mattson Case

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Honolulu police, said today that a sailor from the freighter Manuwa told them that one of his shipmates had admitted he was the kidnaper and slayer of Charles Mattson, 10, of Tacoma, Wash.

J. P. McFarland, department of justice agent, questioned the informing sailor, but refused to comment.

The informant gave police the name and description of his shipmate who told of the kidnapping, and police said the description corresponded with that given by eyewitnesses to the kidnapping.

Taken From Home

The Mattson boy, son of a Tacoma dentist, was taken from his home the evening of Dec. 27, 1935, while he and several other children were playing with Christmas toys.

The other children said a bearded man with a deep guttural voice was with the kidnaper. The boy's body, mutilated, was found in a snowbank near Everett, Wash.

Honolulu police said the sailor, who claimed to have talked with the Mattson kidnaper, was picked up in a beer tavern near the waterfront after he was overheard discussing the case with drinking companions.

JUST ANOTHER MOVIE ROMANCE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Vera Reynolds, actress, today accused Robert Ellis Reel, actor, of reneging after a "promise to re-marry" after they found their 11-year-old marriage ceremony was illegal.

The hazel eyed beauty of the silent films asked $150,000 damages from Reel in one of the strangest lawsuits arising from tangled Hollywood romances.

While Miss Reynolds was in her hey day as a featured film star, she married Reel in Greenwich, Conn., on Sept. 16, 1926. It was not until two years ago that she found the ceremony had been illegal, she said. Her divorce from Earl T. Montgomery had not been final.

Reel promised to go through with a second marriage, out reckoned, she charged.

Turned Out

In February of 1934 Reel said he would not remarry her, and they agreed on a division of their property. Miss Reynolds related. Three months later her complaint charged Reel "professing his love and affection, induced plaintiff to agree to the marriage, to surrender the property agreement and to again live with Reel as his wife."

They lived together from June until September, when Reel ordered her from the home, she said. A few days later they became reconciled. Reel apologized, agreed to marry her, and they resumed a married relationship that lasted until he again ejected her last August 15, her complaint related.

Divorce Followed By Wedding Bells

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 4.—(UP)—A. Felix Dupont, prominent member of the wealthy Dupont clan of Delaware, departed for California today on an "automobile honeymoon" with Ann B. Marvel De Armond, 48 year old society leader of Wilmington and Rehoboth Beach, Del.

Dupont was married a few minutes after he had divorced Mary R. Chichester Dupont, who had been his wife since 1902. He charged extreme cruelty.

BOISE FIREMEN, TEN FEET AWAY, WATCH PONIES BURN

BOISE, Ida.—Seven polo ponies and riding horses burned to death here today when flames, starting from a straw pile, roared through two barns housing Boise polo team stock and academy animals.

The fire department was on them but did not attempt to stop the fire or save the horses.

The academy and polo barns were about 10 feet over the line defining city limits. Firemen and trucks stopped opposite the blaze, about 20 feet away and waited until the fire had burnt itself out.

They watched the seven horses kicking and screaming, tied to flaming stalls. Owners, some of

EMPLOYEES RILED OVER WAGE SLASH

BY GEORGE HART

Organized protest by county employees against proposed salary readjustments, formally filed with the county supervisors late yesterday, was accompanied by strong hints of a possible courthouse strike, as civic interests of the county backed up the employees in their demands for a just wage schedule.

After George E. Kellogg, of Yorba Linda, chairman of the labor relations committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, had appeared before the board to protest against the cutting of wages, particularly in the lower brackets, an employees' committee presented their grievance, and urged their right of "collective bargaining" on the wage matter.

They declared that the employees, under the new proposals, "have not been dealt with fairly and equitably."

Statement Untrue?

Meanwhile, Supervisor N. E. West, member of the salary committee of the board, charged that reports of the salary proposals appearing in "The Register" were "untrue and unfortunate." West declared that the county payroll would, as a whole, be increased "more than five per cent and nearer ten per cent."

West then confronted a representative of The Register with his charges. The newspaperman admitted that the press statements might be "unfortunate" from certain viewpoints but he undertook to show him, referring to the list of proposed new salaries, compared to

CRASH VICTIM DIES; 7 HURT

James Monroe, Cedar street, Westminster, injured while walking across Westminster boulevard in front of the Westminster post-office Tuesday, at 10 p. m., yesterday became Orange county's 65th traffic fatality of 1937.

Seeing a car operated by Clifford Crane, Westminster, approaching, Mr. Monroe turned back and stepped into the path of a dairy truck operated by Philip Fairchild, Route 1, Garden Grove. He suffered internal injuries.

Coroner Earl Abbey said an inquest is pending at Brown and Warner funeral chapel.

Youth Injured

Lowell Miller, 13, 619 North Shelton, son of Mrs. Neil Miller, who has been visiting friends at Newport Beach was injured at Eighth and Lowell streets when a car operated by Dr. John Simpson, 304 North Shelton, struck him. The lad's brother, Bud, 14, suffered injured left leg and Robert Kitter, 48 East Third, cuts and bruises, while Irving Tucker, 616 North Shelton, escaped injuries. Lowell suffered head injury.

According to police, the four boys were standing about a bicycle, or playing with it, when the accident occurred. The injured were removed to Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Max Sention, about 50, Pasadena, and Mrs. Belle Graham, Altadena, with her son, 15, were injured near Newport Beach yesterday when a

COUNTY BEACHES DRAW HOLIDAY THROUGHS

3 CITIES PLAN CELEBRATIONS FOR WEEK-END

Orange county's beaches are expected to be the mecca for huge throngs over the holiday week end, with special attractions being scheduled at Newport harbor and Huntington Beach.

Pirates' day will be celebrated at Balboa tomorrow afternoon, when youthful "pirates" will stage a parade at 2 o'clock, with costumes to be judged after the parade at the Balboa pier. Various beach games will be played near Balboa pier and later in the afternoon the "pirates" will hold a ball at the Rendezvous ballroom. In the evening there will be bonfires along the beach.

"Black Gold" Days
Huntington Beach has arranged an elaborate three-day "Black Gold" days celebration, opening tonight with a stage show and dance at Memorial hall, with Stuart Hamblen and his radio entertainers providing entertainment.

The second annual twin convention will be held at Huntington Beach Sunday, a parade being slated at 2 o'clock. An amateur show by twins is scheduled at the beach grand stand after the parade.

The Huntington Beach Municipal band under the direction of John R. Peterson will present concerts Sunday and Monday afternoons. Aquatic sports are planned for Monday at 10 a. m. Kayak events are slated for Monday afternoon. The American Motorcycle association will stage a two-day convention starting Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. A 50-mile road race is scheduled for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon on the flats east of the city.

The Huntington Beach "Oilers" and Anaheim will clash Monday night at Huntington Beach.

U. C. FACULTY PLANS PARLEY

Faculty advisers of Santa Ana Junior college will meet Monday evening for the first time this semester, it was learned today from D. C. Hammond, director of the college.

The group will meet for the purpose of discussing final details and plans of registration to be held Sept. 9 and 10. "This gathering will afford an opportunity for the advisers to discuss recent changes in college requirements and go over last-minute changes not included in the college catalogue," Hammond said.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in room 205 of College hall.

MAIL DELIVERIES SUSPENDED

Following the policy set by the Business Men's Association, there will be no rural or city mail service on Labor Day, it was announced today by Frank Harwood, postmaster.

"All departments with the exception of box service will be closed," Harwood said, "including stamps, parcel post, and money orders."

Modern Poets

BY BEULAH MAY
In a packet from England came a book, The Poems of All Nations, edited by Katherine Hunter Coe. Quite the best in the book it seemed to me, were these by our own Arthur Trumann Merrill.

CHINESE CHROMATICS
On cool heights
Against the coral-mosaics of sky-seas
Purple and jade-green Chinese
Are flying intricate-yellow fish-kites.

Where bronze rice field sedges
Wrinkle massive water edges
Pink-throated cranes rise
Bewildered by schools of yellow fish.

Swimming the skies,
BURMESE PADDY FIELDS
Bright sky of hibiscus,
Ploverman against the sunset
Gold-browed like a Buddha;
Water-buffalo, ink-black,
Sidelined eyes on fire;
Sire fields of jet enamel
Deep-vitalized with sky-flame.

THE GEISHA
Life carves hieroglyphs
Upon the ivory of your face
Which no subtlety of art can erase;
Some night when white wisteria drifts
A perfumed snow and the blue heron on lifts
Coral eyes to a moon that lies
In pollen-beds of almond blossom skies.

There will come a prescient hush;
A moment's inarticulate pause
Before the delicious rush
Of unrestrained applause;
Then, Geisha, dance
With incorporeal breath
Transmute emotion,
Fours the superlative chance
To transfix motion,
Fours to capture Death.

Boycott On Walker's Is Lifted Today

A committee representing the Mexican Honorary Commission of Santa Ana today announced publicly that the boycott against the two Walkers theater and the Princess theater, which has been in force during the last four weeks has been lifted.

The announcement followed meetings held this week in Santa Ana and other parts of Orange county.

Accompanying the announcement was a written statement in which the Mexican committee declared that all differences between the Walker interests and the Mexicans had been settled amicably.

IRVINE OFFICE ISSUES FORMAL NOTE ON STRIKE

Declaring mis-statements were made by representatives of Local 402 of the Teamsters and Warehouse Workers Union in announcing the strike of 15 warehousemen employed by the Irvine Warehouse company, Ltd., the company issued a statement today, declaring it has never refused to bargain with the employees or their representatives.

No demands have been made up on the company yet, the company reported.

Meanwhile, a peaceful picketing of the warehouse is under way. Sheriff Logan Jackson and his men, at request of Brad Hellis, manager of the Irvine Warehouse, have entered the picture by furnishing an escort for substitute workers, to and from the warehouse.

"Not the Facts"

"After noting press comments concerning the strike of employees at Irvine, the company feels that certain mis-statements should be answered in order that the public might be properly informed," the company statement said. The published articles indicate the manager refused to confer or bargain with employees or representatives designated by them. Such is not a fact.

"The present strike was called without any demands upon the company, or without any complaints from employees. This company stands ready to meet and bargain with its employees either individually or collectively through representatives of their own selection whether or not such employees are members of any labor unions. The company is doing everything in its power during the present strike to maintain service to bean farmers served by it in order that the normal movement of the present large bean harvest may be preserved and thus prevent serious injury."

Workers' representatives said they are asking a nine-hour day and increases in pay from 40 cents to 65, 75 and 85 cents per hour.

RALPH MOON GETS FOLSOM PEN TERM

Ralph Moon, charged with forgery of a $125.00 check passed at the Henry drug store in Anaheim, today was denied probation and sentenced by Superior Judge James L. Allen to a term of from one to 10 years at Folsom.

Jack Barnes Collins, a movie actor who pleaded guilty to second degree burglary at the county hospital also was denied probation and sentenced to one year in the county jail.

Daniel N. Cunningham pleaded guilty to an offense against a six-year-old girl and asked probation, hearing being set for Sept. 17.

Floyd A. Hicks pleaded guilty to drunk driving and injury of W. H. Moon, August 25, his plea for probation being set for Sept. 10.

Ken Murray SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—How are screen stars now? Well, just listen to the success story of Hollywood's latest toast:

"I never knew I had sex appeal," said Miss Millie Mimph, "until I read the symptoms in the papers. It was an ad and said you could develop it by mail just like learning banjo playing or becoming a detective. I clipped the coupon and sent $1.50 for the lessons."

"At the end of six months I go my diploma, making me a certified public vampire. Then I came on to Hollywood in search of work and got a job behind an oyster bar, shucking oysters. The manager said he'd pay me $7 a week and give me 30 per cent of all the pearls."

"At last my big chance came to get into the movie. In the all-important screen test, I got 90 per cent in reading, 85 per cent in writing and 75 per cent in looks. Shortly thereafter I ran into two fellows who wrote for the movies. They said they were gag men. I knew they made me sick."

"And then I met a millionaire who made a fortune renting swamps to the billboard trust. Shortly after we were married at 'Tuna' Aris, or do they call it 'Hamor'? Anyway, that's my little success story."

present salaries. This list, however, bore out The Register's statements.

West then explained that the list was not final, and was still subject to revision. The news man pointed out that the press reports had so stated, presenting the schedule as "proposed."

The employees' committee, apparently having also scanned the same schedule, referred to its "gross unfairness."

The board had adjourned before the committee arrived, and the protest was filed for their future perusal.

Depression Over

George Kellogg, on behalf of the Associated Chambers, protested specifically a basic salary of $90 per month as being too low. Kellogg said he started working for Los Angeles on a basic salary of $90 nearly 20 years ago, in 1908, and that no such basic wage should exist in the present day. The depression is over and living costs are going up rapidly, instead of downward, Kellogg reminded the board, in connection with the proposed downward revision of salaries in some of the lower brackets.

The formal protest presented by the employees' committee was mild in tone, compared to the verbal expressions heard along the corridors and in the departments. Organization of employees was being discussed, and feelings were at such a pitch that a general walk-out was being threatened.

The committee, consisting of J. A. Anderson, J. E. Boyd, D. B. McMillan, E. S. Wooster and R. C. Bohe, representing various county departments, filed the following protest:

"In order that there can be no possibility of us being misquoted we are placing our objections in writing."

"Orange county is noted and advertised as the richest county per capita in the United States. Our people have prospered even through the long years of depression, as evidenced by the increase in taxable property. We are advised that our tax rate is the second lowest in the state of California, yet the salaries of our county employees are, in almost every case, lower than those of every county in the state, of similar population and natural advantages."

"It was hoped and believed by the employees and the public as well that after the board had struggled with the wage question for the past eight months, a fair and equitable adjustment of wages would be arrived at, based on personal and educational qualifications, together with the satisfactory service record of the employee, and taking into account wages paid for similar work in counties of corresponding importance and resources. It was also hoped and believed that the supervisors would take into favorable consideration the recommendations made by the head of each department, who undoubtedly is most familiar with and best able to judge the individual worth of each employee in his department."

Oppose Adoption

An inspection of the proposed wage schedule convinces us that this is not the case, that the employees have not been dealt with fairly and equitably, and that they have a just grievance.

We therefore respectfully request that the proposed wage ordinance be not officially adopted in its present form and that the employees, through their proper elective representatives, be permitted the right of collective bargaining in those cases where there appears to be gross unfairness."

Women employees at the courthouse will conduct a meeting at the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. next Tuesday evening at 7:30 to discuss formation of a woman's organization of county employees, it was learned today.

No definite decision to form such an organization has been reached, it was said, and the meeting is merely to sound sentiment of the employees toward such a move.

Organization Formed
The general county employees held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night and formed a temporary organization, with J. Arthur Anderson as chairman and Charles Tulon secretary. Committees on constitution and by-laws, membership and adjustments were named.

A representative from each department was present, and this group will constitute an executive committee until the permanent organization is effected.

The strikers are members of the Teamsters' Union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Prices on California Valencia oranges showed little or no change during the week under offerings of lesser volume than the previous week due to the approaching holidays. Monday, September 6th (Labor Day) is generally observed and is also a Jewish holiday, and is anticipated immediately following the holidays, however, as the trade has cleaned up their stocks in anticipation of the holiday.

Competitive fruits continue in heavy volume, but reports from various markets show that the quality of the fruit offered is declining. The voluntary promise for next week on Valencia is 590 cars interstate and 75 cars intrastate commerce.

Grapefruit prices were generally lower the past week due to the quality of offerings. California quotations on fancy Valencia show no change over a week ago and are as follows: Sizes 28s and larger, $4.75 to $4.90; 24s, $4.50 to $4.65; 20s, $4.25 to $4.40; 16s, $3.75 to $3.90; 12s, $3.25 to $3.40. The market on California lemons is strong and higher with P. O. B. California quotations on extra choice stock, all sizes on a basis of $5 to $6.50 per box.

There are on hand and available for sale within the next 20 days in all United States ports, 2 cars of foreign lemons. During 1936, 1935 and 1934, same period, none; 1933, 2 cars; and 1932, 9 cars.

DEMAND JAPANESE REMOVE WARSHIPS

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(11 p. m.)—(UP)—Alarmed at an immediate menace to the lives of more than 2000 Americans in the bomb torn International Settlement and the French Concession of this beleaguered city, the United States tonight joined with Great Britain and France in demanding that Japan remove her warships from Shanghai.

The intervention followed a rain of explosives on the foreign areas, chiefly from Chinese big guns attempting to sink Japanese warships which for weeks have been anchored near the center of the Anglo-American and French districts. More than 2000 civilians including Americans have been killed in the foreign areas since August 12.

China was requested to withdraw her armies simultaneously. Both Japan and China were expected to reject the demands, each insisting that the other side retire first.

That would leave the U. S. British and French naval commanders and diplomats a choice of two alternatives:

- 1.—To evacuate all their nationals as rapidly as possible.
- 2.—To attempt to expel both the Japanese and Chinese by force.

It was agreed that the latter course was unthinkable since the combined force of the powers is less than one-tenth the strength of the Japanese alone.

Presentation of the three powers note followed a conference among the American, British and French admirals at the U. S. Consulate.

Shortly afterward Rear Admiral Harry Yarnell, commanding the U. S. Asiatic squadron, invited the Japanese commander, Rear Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, to a conference aboard his flagship, the U.S.S. Abasco.

The U. S. British and French consuls conferred separately at noon and concurred in the action of the naval commanders. They presented identical demands to the Japanese and Chinese diplomatic authorities.

Japanese Get Demands
A copy of the note was handed to Japanese Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe and Mayor O. K. Yui, mayor of the Shanghai Chinese municipal government, who is representative here for the Nanjing foreign office.

Yui was the first to reveal the note.

He said the consuls general, in behalf of their naval commanders, formally had called attention to the heavy casualties among civilians in the International Settlement yesterday and had requested that Japanese warships be moved beyond the settlement section of the Whangpoo river, and that Chinese troops be withdrawn east of Pootung road and south of Changkadeo creek, which runs eastward from the Whangpoo shortly to the south of Shanghai.

The mayor referred the note to his superior in Nanjing.

Yui said that Chinese troops could not be withdrawn, in his opinion, unless the Japanese warships first leave the foreign areas.

These warships are the crux of the situation, he asserted, and it is their presence in the foreign areas which has led to the tremendous civilian toll.

"The Japanese are using the settlement as a base for military operations against our army," Yui said.

"They are unloading soldiers within sight of the U. S. and British consulates general."

"Their warships are bombarding our men from anchorages immediately adjacent to the war vessels of the three powers."

"The United States, Britain and France must remember that China has been invaded and that we merely are attempting to drive out the invader."

"The powers should force the Japanese out of Shanghai."

From the Japanese viewpoint it was equally difficult to accept the demands.

A Japanese spokesman said that Japan is a partner in the International Settlement, that she merely is utilizing the defense area of the settlement which for years has been assigned to her, and that she must maintain her ships and men where they can defend Japanese lives and property.

The spokesman pointed out that Japanese bombing planes carefully have avoided the Anglo-American area of the settlement and the French Concession.

NAVY FLOTILLA TO VISIT PERU PORTS

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The U. S. S. Ranger, newest commissioned aircraft carrier in the navy, accompanied by two of the most modern and fastest destroyers in service, steamed out of the harbor here today and headed for Callao, Peru.

Accompanying the big aircraft carrier, with its full quota of 72 planes, of all types, were the U. S. S. Worden and U. S. S. Hull.

More than a thousand officers and men made up the personnel of the flotilla.

The American ships were ordered to Peru as a good-will gesture to take part in the International Aeronautical Congress in session there.

DROVES OF FLEAS STAGE RAID ON SANTA ANA CABINET WORKS

Staging a mysterious raid on the Santa Ana Cabinet and Fixture company on East Fourth street early this week, great droves of fleas that temporarily halted workmen of the concern until drastic action was taken, today had departed—apparently for all time.

At the same time, it was reported the insects in great numbers had raided other sections of the city.

At the cabinet works, the sudden appearance of the fleas caused work to be stopped. Floors were sprayed with a cresote solution and the fleas died or, discouraged, left the premises, according to the bookkeeper, M. A. Gavin. The men's trouser legs were covered with the fleas which have a faculty of not remaining long in one place and which hopped, skipped and jumped about until workers got rid of them.

According to authorities at the horticultural department at the courthouse fleas usually are to be found where dogs or cats live. Premises may be rid of them by keeping the grounds wet, washing floors with an emulsion of kerosene and soapy water and by spraying cracks with sodium fluoride. Water, destroys the larvae, it is said but does not affect the adult flea. The insects breed in any dry, dusty place.

JAM SESSIONS OUTLAWED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Jam Sessions, where musicians gather to play for fun after a night's work, were outlawed today by the local musicians' union. It was a blow to the dawn patrol of 12th street and to local swing music, which reached its heights at the sessions. A new union ruling that said taverns had been cashing in on the impromptu performances and henceforth they would have to pay for them. Musicians were warned that fines of $5 to $50 would be imposed for violations.

FIRE ON YACHT KILLS 3 GIRLS

Timberlake rushed repeatedly into the sheet of fire, but was driven back. He fought on desperately after Burg launched a small skiff and took off the women. The cabin in his daughters inside hopelessly enveloped in flames, he finally went overboard. Burg jumped into the water to give his seat in the skiff to the badly burned man.

Rushed to Hospital
After taking aboard the survivors and extinguishing the fire with her hoses, the Aurora returned at full speed to San Pedro, towing the yacht. Timberlake was transferred to a fast coast guard speedboat several miles out and rushed to a hospital ashore.

The gutted yacht, the children's bodies still inside the smoldering cabin, was moored at the coast guard base.

Timberlake was taken to the police receiving hospital, and the other five to private physicians.

Cause of the explosion was believed gas accumulating in the engine room. The motor had been missing occasionally for some time before the blast.

COMMUNITY WELFARE BOARD OPENS CAMPAIGNS FOR FUNDS

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Making plans for a $1000 drive for funds, members of the Orange Community Welfare board met yesterday for the first time since a summer vacation period. The campaign is to be open at once and is to close October 1. The work to obtain money to carry on welfare work in the city this winter will be obtained by voluntary contributions.

Of interest to board members were figures in reduction of relief costs which is reflected in the decrease in the sum set for the drive.

Less than half of the amount of money needed was spent for groceries last month as in August 1934. The sharp decline in groceries bought in August was shown by the following figures: August, 1934 $78.43; 1935, 51.10; 1936, 44.37; 1937, 32.76.

TOWNSEND TOPICS

by W. F. Rockwell

(Editor's Note: The comment and opinions of W. F. Rockwell, as appearing in this column are not necessarily those of The Register.)

The "surprise" mock wedding at the Costa Mesa Townsend club No. 11 Wednesday night was entirely comical to prevent the audience from being lulled by laughter. The "troupe" that "put on the show" certainly knew just exactly how to "perform" and will be apt to be called upon more than once to appear at other places. This is our guess.

This column was almost entirely eliminated yesterday because of an unusual amount of other matter that had to be printed which, occupied most of the available space.

Santa Ana Townsend club No. 2 will have its regular weekly meeting in the Townsend Hall, 509 West Fourth street next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, with P. R. Long in the chair.

Santa Ana Townsend club No. 11 held their regular weekly meeting last night which, as usual, was very much enjoyed by all present, including visitors from Tustin and other clubs. Mr. John Sauer's talk was fully appreciated. The membership drive was started which promises to develop into a lively contest that may be compared to any sort of a "scrap" with plenty of fun, as the "fight" continues. When the final days approach a lot of "fun" will probably be flying for this club feels that the $50 first prize is theirs regardless of what any other club thinks about it.

Santa Ana Townsend club No. 10 had an unusual subject last night, "An Ancient Prophecy of a Future Paradise" which was told by Rev. Julia N. Rudolph. The prophecy was made by Confucius 500 B. C. The "future paradise" has not yet become a present paradise and Confucius' descendants of today seem to be still previous to the future paradise. Since the day of Confucius the Townsend Plan is the first practical proposition to be brought to the attention of mankind that has the appearance of fulfilling that prophecy.

Nineteenth congressional District Manager J. H. Walsh received a letter from Roy J. Webb, enclosing a copy of a letter he had written to H. F. Kenney, 1030 W. Myrtle St., Santa Ana, from both of which we quote excerpts as follows: "I am enclosing a copy of a letter that I have mailed to Mr. Kenney."

"From my recent trip into Mich., Ind., Penn. N. Y., N. J., Del., and Wash. D. C., I have discovered that a great campaign to double the membership in America is booming."

"I wish it were possible for you to once get a picture of ALL Congressional Districts in America, right now, and then you would be satisfied that the Movement is staying with Dr. Townsend in the face of all that has been said against him. Even if a person is sincere about having other leadership besides Dr. Townsend, he just cannot disregard the sentiment that THE GREAT MAJORITY of pension and recovery-minded people in this nation have built up for Dr. Townsend."

(The foregoing was in Mr. Walsh's letter, the following from Mr. Kenney's):

"Let me give you facts, so there will be nothing spread in that District that will be a boomerang on the spreaders of any misleading propaganda."

"If I should leave Dr. Townsend, I would be deserting the Townsend Clubs of America; and, if I joined the General Welfare Federation, I would be a party to the destruction (the attempted destruction) of the Townsend Clubs of America."

"Just go about in the many states of this nation as I have been doing the last two months, and then come down to the National Office and see what has happened in the past 3 weeks, and you will begin to see where the clubs of America stand on this question of leadership."

EDUCATOR WILL CLOSE SERIES

This summer's Institute of Liberal Religion at the Santa Ana Unitarian church Sunday evening will close, as it began, with an address by a nationally-known educator, Clarence R. Stone, of Berkeley, an alumnus of both Missouri and Chicago universities. He taught in St. Louis schools for 13 years and in Washington university before coming to California to serve on the faculties of both Stanford and the University of California.

He comes to Santa Ana as Pacific Coast representative of the national Unitarian Laymen's league. His address, observing Labor Day, will deal with the plan of the league, known as "The New Partnership," for bridging the gap between religion and practical affairs. Special music will augment the harp and piano work with which Regina Walberg and Bill Beeman have accompanied the previous sessions. Mrs. J. Leslie Steffensen will sing two groups of solos. The service is at 8 o'clock.

NOTED DRY TO TALK SUNDAY

Addressing a holiness mass meeting at the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter streets, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Claud A. Watson, United States attorney, nationally known prohibition lecturer and preacher, will speak on "The Holy Spirit, the Organizer and Perpetuator of the Church."

The Rev. Samuel Rodgers, of Los Angeles, will speak at the same church at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Special services conducted by the Rev. Rollin E. Cochran and his singers, from Whittier, will continue every night next week at 7:30. The Rev. Mr. Cochran was for several years the district elder of the California conference is now pastor of the Whittier church. Both he and Mrs. Cochran are vocal instructors. Mr. Drexler, who assists with the singing, is a former stage entertainer, who sang with Eddie Cantor on the New York stage.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HEAR INSTRUCTOR

The Presbyterian church of America will hold a special introductory meeting next Thursday evening at 7:30 at 320 West Washington avenue, in the interest of getting up a truly scriptural ministry in the northern districts of Santa Ana, according to an announcement today from the organizers. The speaker will be the Rev. William Harlan Bordeaux, instructor in ecclesiastical history and homiletics at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles.

The Rev. E. L. Wade, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church (of America), of Los Angeles will preside and the Rev. M. C. Frehn, for 11 years missionary in Japan, will speak briefly.

PHYLLIS KOGLER SINGS SUNDAY

The Musical Memory Hour program at Melrose Abbey Sunday afternoon will feature Phyllis Kogler, soprano, Carol Mae Larson, pianist and Harold Larson, organist. All are residents of Orange.

Miss Kogler will sing "Beloved, It Is Morn'" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Piano and organ numbers to be rendered by Miss Larson and her brother include, "Prelude," "Sleepers' Wake," "Dialogue," "Scherzo," "Intermezzo," their closing number to be, "Soldiers of the King."

Miss Larson will give one piano number, "May Night" and Mr. Larson opens the program playing a well known organ number, "The Londonderry Air," a folk tune.

The program will begin promptly at three o'clock.

WORLD CHANGES TO BE OUTLINED

The present period of change and unrest in religion, industry and politics is but the "birth pangs" of a new era, which will bring greater religious faith, the Rev. A. S. Bash contends, and will make the theme of his Labor Day message at the Orange Avenue Christian church Sunday morning. The service is at 11 o'clock.

The pastor, said an announcement today, will discuss the fact that the whole world now is in a state of transition, with a disregard for tried standards and landmarks. The religious world, with its more than 200 divisions and denominations, either contributes to the unrest and confusion of the present hour, said the Rev. Mr. Bash today, "or, standing for the unity of God's people, presents a challenge, a call to service, presenting work to be done and giving the assurance of victory."

REVIVAL MEETINGS ATTRACT THROGS

The revival being conducted by Evangelist Roy Foster at 1600 West Third street is now in its fourth week and continues to hold strong interest. It was reported today by the Rev. E. L. Friend, pastor of the church, that meetings are held nightly at 7:30, except Saturday. Evangelist Foster's messages, with sketches of his pre-conversion days as a dope fiend and noted criminal of the Middle West, have proved to be of deep interest, said the pastor, who invited all to come and see "what God can do for a fallen man."

PLAN COURTESY NIGHT WESTMINSTER. Sept. 4.—Courtesy night will be observed Tuesday evening by Aloha Rebekah lodge. The program of the evening will be in charge of Mrs. Clarence Wasser with Mrs. Jennie Bowden hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frankie VanUden.

COME TO CHURCH

The Church Is The Meeting Place For God And His People

PERFECT LAW

"The law of the Lord is perfect."—Psalm 19.

That could never be said of the laws of man. God's law is perfect, but man made laws are far short of perfection.

The recent session of the California Legislature considered more than 4000 measures, and actually passed some 1350 of them. Other states do about as well in proportion. The national congress, the county boards and the local city councils are all busy making laws and re-making them. Hundreds of thousands of laws are supposed to govern us. Some of them are foolish—some are positively silly. Most of them are habitually violated.

One reason why we have so many laws is that the lawmakers keep on trying to fix up imperfect laws so as to make them work. And we who elect the lawmakers to enact laws for our government immediately set ourselves to the task of trying to find ways to circumvent these same laws. This emphasizes once more the fact that you can't make people good by legislation. It also suggests the imperfections of human law.

Now turn to the perfection of God's law.

Here is no great volume of legal lore. The first formal statement was made by Moses when he brought down the table of ten rules from the mountain of vision. Ten short articles covered man's duty to God and to his fellow man. These laws were so far-reaching, so comprehensive, so fundamental in their statement of truth that it took no great number of words to state them, and it took no great intellect to understand them.

"Thou shalt not steal." "Thou shalt not kill." Even the youngest or the least learned person could understand such rules.

Centuries after Moses, a prophet restated the law in a still more simple form. Micah remarked, "What doth God require of thee, but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly before thy God?" That was getting right down to bedrock. Such a statement of the law could claim some degree of perfection.

But Jesus went still further in simplifying the statement of God's perfect law. He said, "The first and greatest commandment is, love God with all your being, and the second is like unto it, love your neighbor as yourself."

He gathered the whole teaching into one sentence and gave that law which we properly call the "Golden Rule", saying, "As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them." No one has ever been able to improve on that phrasing.

Jesus recognized the commandments as given through Moses, but he said, "A new commandment I give unto you, that you love one another." He realized that the whole law of God is comprehended in the one word, "Love". God's love for man and man's love for God form the two parts of a perfect whole. When man truly loves God he cannot help loving his brother, thus completing the cycle.

The law of God is perfect in its fundamental quality. It does not go into detailed specifications as to human conduct, but rather lays down the great principles by which life is to be ordered. When these principles are faithfully observed conduct must be right.

The law of God is perfect in its universality. It applies to all people alike and there is no way of "fixing" tickets to escape the penalty for violation. The law of love is just as effective in the depths of the wildest jungle as on the crowded city streets. It applies to the highest and the lowest in the social scale; to the wisest and most learned as well as to the simplest and the most ignorant.

And the law of God is perfect in its simplicity. It takes no great intellect to comprehend its requirements. A child can understand it—frequently does grasp it more readily than the super-charged intellect looking for hard things to work on. But it takes the best efforts of the wisest and strongest of earth to follow and obey that law.

The law of the Lord is perfect. Man's law can approximate perfection if men will learn from God; if men will make their laws fundamental, universal and simple. But no law can be perfect nor even truly satisfactory in a social organization unless it is based on the great law of love which Jesus gave to man.

The Psalmist placed strong emphasis on the law. "Great peace have they who love thy law, and nothing shall offend them," he said. "Thy word have I hid in mine heart that I might not sin against thee." "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly—but his delight is in the law of the Lord and in his law doth he meditate day and night." So let us study this perfect law that we may order our steps by its precepts and in our turn find peace.

YOU MELLOW WITH AGE

Jimmy Coates, who was good for a streamer and half-a-column when he rushed to the rescue of Santa Ana's faltering Stars, rang the bell for a streamer and TWO columns in San Bernardino.

Up there the boys had a hem-orraghe when they heard the Visalia Volleyer was going to pitch against them.

Never one to pull a punch, columnist Bob Walton fairly bristled. Boiling it down, this is what Walton had to say: "...the Southern California association has a rule which outlaws a player for life if he 'jumps'..." Coates then should be outlawed from the National league.

...In his return, the writer can see nothing but the ranked sport rulings... it is pretty shady stuff... The Santa Ana-Coates case goes deeper than what it amounts to any player, if he's good enough, can virtually write his own ticket in the Southland association... Santa Ana probably will get away with it. Only a few weeks ago officials turned their heads while the Orange county sector pulled some deals that were as pure as a Pennsylvania coal mine.

Six or seven years ago I should have dashed to my mill in the corner of the creaky news-room, looked up a few words dripping with spleen and smashed back at my San Bernardino contemporary.

But no more, Irene. And neither will young Bob Walton when he's been around the National league for ten years.

When he's older, and his hair-line begins to recede, and the old whiskers get more stubborn each season, he'll learn to keep his shirt on. "Shady deals" won't excite him, nor "disgust" him. They'll make him laugh.

I sympathize with Bob, at that. I remember that year George Pace of Anaheim stole some of Santa Ana's best players, and my provincial pride was wounded. I wrote some nasty things about George. George said he would "cut my throat." I told him if he even looked like he wanted to cut my throat I would sink a right hook into his big fat belly.

This went on until my chin-whiskers began to give me more trouble than formerly, and Pace and I got together one day and decided nothing was worth that kind of prattle. Anyway, we reasoned, it always was a mismatch when a tall skinny man fought a short, fat one. So we shook hands and ended the feud. It was my last.

No, Bob, the world will go on whether Coates pitches for Santa Ana or is "outlawed" to Visalia where the poor boy can make only $31 a game. It will go on whether U. S. C. shellacks Stanford or whether Stanford licks S. C. It's funny that way. The ole sun comes up every morning about the same time—win, lose or draw. And nothing we ever do or say stops it.

The only reason I go into this at all is to clear the record for Jim Coates.

You see, Bob, our Jimmy isn't really an outlaw. There's harsh words, old timer. He's just a grumpy kid. And he really belongs to the Santa Ana ball club. He's no "ringer" in the real sense of the word. He pitched for the Stars three long years, and was with 'em all spring. He still lives around here—out Garden Grove way. And, again to keep the record straight, Coates is playing for the Stars FOR NOTHING. Not a thin dime. No "outlaw" and "villain" hardly fit him.

"Ah," you breath, "but isn't there a Southern California rule barring players who pitch in the San Joaquin league?" How about that?

There may have been, Bob, but you see the Southern California association does not exist. It was out of business when the American league folded this spring. Anyway, Bob, maybe we shouldn't dig into that because it might prove embarrassing. Before we bar anybody from the San Joaquin ace Venn Botts if HE ever pitched in the valley? You see if we bar Coates we'll have to kick out Venn, too. Personally I don't think the word "outlaw" fits Botts either. Do you?

"Dink" Templeton, Stanford's track coach, who went to grade school in Santa Ana, has finished what he terms his opus for the Paramount Studios. And the title, for which "Dink" probably will be kidded no end, is "Love Goes College." But wait a minute. You're wrong. Love is the name of the hero, and not what you thought.

Templeton's hero is a distance runner and a true character out of Stanford campus life, at least in part. And here is the part: A few years ago a Stanford twomiler, named Leland Loofborow, lived off the campus in a hilly section menaced by poison oak. Loofborow, who was immune from the dreaded vegetation, was routed out by "Dink" for his track team, and eventually made his letter. He also was the ring-leader in the recovery of the famous axe trophy from California.

HOLLYWOOD—Chief Paris, a 1 to 5 shortender, last night slashed out his second win over Glen Lee in the Legion ring.

Lee, Nebraska's ranking challenger for the world welterweight title, outweighed the Indian eight pounds, but was slow in starting and later failed in an attempt to sink Paris in the 10th. A burrowing attack missed flooring the Chief but gave Lee the round.

Stars Stop S. Bernardino The PAYOFF

Fallen Court Stars Blame Broiling Sun

BY HENRY SUPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Brilliant tennis by supposedly setup opponents and terrific heat worried the start today as the National singles championships entered the third day of competition.

Only 16 of the 24 domestic and foreign seeded players remained in the running today.

Eight seeded stars, including two of the best, were eliminated yesterday. The two major players—Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., America's third best woman player, and Hannek Henkel of Germany—both attributed defeat to broiling sun that reached 103 degrees. Henkel said that he had lost 18 pounds since arriving in the United States about two weeks ago; that he couldn't sleep because of the heat.

Other stars who continued in the running—including Don Budge of Oakland, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany—seemed unaffected by the heat. Most of them played listlessly.

Henkel, seeded No. 2 on the foreign list and U. S. doubles champion with von Cramm, was defeated by Martin Duxby of Miami, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. Mrs. Fabyan was defeated 12-4, 6-6, 7-5 by Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York veteran.

Among other seeded stars who were beaten were Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn., No. 5 on the U. S. list, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, sixth on the foreign list.

Sixteen men and 16 women in the lower half of the draws will play third and second round matches today.

Four Eastern Boys Reach L. A. Finals

LOS ANGELES—Four youngsters from east of the Mississippi were out today after the Western Amateur golf championship.

The quartet surviving quarter-finals yesterday made golf a young man's game. Not one of them is over 23.

Two of them, Ray Billows, 23-year-old printing salesman of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., runner-up in the National Amateur meet, and Charley Koois of Detroit, were early favorites. With them in the semi-finals today were Wilfred Wehrle, Racine, Wis., and John Burke, of Providence.

Billows pounded out a 2 and 1 victory over Bill Holt of Syracuse as Holt hooked and sliced to the green but sank impossible putts for birdies.

Don Erickson, Los Angeles newsboy, a runner-up in the National Public Links play, was Billows' other victim. The score was 3 and 2.

Koois put out the California champion, Roger Kelly, one up, and dropped Charley Yates of Atlanta, tournament medalist, from play in the morning round, also 1 up.

Wehrle and Harry Todd of Dallas battled even for 18 holes with par 71 cards. On the 17th Todd smeared a drive and lost a 1 up lead. Then they halved the next two. On the 20th, Wehrle, quarter-finalist in the British amateur, shook a wisp of hair out of his eyes, wiped his hands on his pants, and sunk a 12-foot putt for a birdie four and the match.

Burke, 20-year-old Rhode Island amateur titlist, took a 1 up win from Dave Davis of Tyler, Tex., after dropping Harry Westbrook of Pasadena, 2 and 1, in the morning round.

Finals are tomorrow.

Red Sox Refuse to Send Doerr to S. D.

Girl, 14, Winner of Women's Swim

SAN FRANCISCO—The nation's outstanding women swimmers will compete in the medley and relay events, exhibition swims and novice performances today in the National Women's A. A. U. swimming championships at Fleischacker pool.

In the opening events yesterday three young Olympic stars won national honors.

Elizabeth Ryan, 14, of New York, won the 100 yard free style swimming event. Marjorie Geistring, also 14, of Los Angeles, took the 10 foot board diving event, and Katherine Rawls, of Miami, won the mile event.

Extra! Yankees In Slump

Three-Game Losing Streak Melts Lead To 9 Games

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The Yankees commanded attention in a new and unfamiliar role today. They haven't won a game this month; they've dropped three in a row to second division clubs.

The slump has melted the Yankees' lead over the Detroit Tigers to nine games—the slimmest since Aug. 7.

They've made only 19 hits in three games. Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig, the Yankees' Big Berthas, have made only two hits. The extra base power of the Yanks has dwindled away to almost nil—only three doubles and one homer (DiMaggio) in three games.

In all games this season the Yanks have averaged 6.4 runs per game. Their September average is only two.

The situation isn't alarming yet, but the Yankee powerhouse will have to start again soon.

Kendal Chase, Washington southpaw, held the Bronx Bombers to seven hits in pitching the Senators to a 4-2 triumph yesterday. Washington made 11 hits off "Red" Ruffing.

Continuing their amazing play against the pennant contenders, Brooklyn massacred the Giants 15-7 and reduced New York's lead over the idle Cubs in the National league race to half-a-game. The Dodgers combed Melton, Brennan and Baker for 18 hits. Jimmy Bucher hit a homer, triple and three singles, driving in five runs. His homer came with the bases loaded.

Gus Mancuso returned to the Giants' lineup for the first time since his thumb was broken July 13. Burleigh Grimes, Brooklyn pilot, was chased from the park in the first inning. It was his eighth banishment this season.

Scoring five runs in the 10th, the Boston Bees beat the Phillies, 7-2. Jim Turner held the Phils to seven hits and won his fifth straight and 16th game this season.

In a night game at Cincinnati, the Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals 9-1, behind the five hit pitching of Ray (Peaches) Davis. Ival Goodman hit a home run with a mate aboard to climax Cincinnati's seven run fifth inning.

Chicago and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

In the other two American league games Detroit won from the Chicago White Sox, 15-3 and the Cleveland Indians hammered out a 15-3 win over St. Louis. Rudy York's single scored Charlie Gehring, who had a perfect day, "3 and 3," with the winning Tiger run. Johnny Allen scored his ninth straight victory in holding the Browns to seven hits. Cliff's homer with two on provided the only Browns' runs. Campbell, Lary and Solters hit Cleveland homers.

Young produced the Stars' fifth run in the ninth when he tripled to right-center and came in when Strain momentarily juggled the ball after making a nice stop.

Jim Coates was back on the ridge for Santa Ana and came up with a seven-hit performance. The Ponies peeked away at him now and then but he got some dandy support, especially from "Nan" Coats and Comstock. Coats raced far back in left to take a homer away from Wayne Watson in the second and Comstock turned in several nice defensive plays.

San Bernardino picked up a run in the first inning on Daley's double along the right field line. Sweet's fly and Kelley's single that Comstock knocked down but couldn't handle.

The inlanders made it 2-0 in the fourth when Kelley walked, made a daring dash to second after Coats caught Shaddock's easy fly and tallied on Gilhousen's double to right.

The Ponies got their last run in the ninth. The troublesome Kelley, who has been the hitting hero of the series, beat out a hopper to Smith and went to second on Shaddock's single over short.

Gilhousen grounded to Comstock who tagged second, forcing Shaddock, but threw wildly to first on a double play set-up. Kelley trotted home.

Santa Ana and San Bernardino revive the series at the Municipal Bowl here Tuesday night. Jack Dugan will pitch for the Stars because Coates is returning to Visalia for a charity game. However, Jim expected back for the fifth game at San Bernardino Thursday. The Stars' ace had a lot of fun batting San Bernardino's boisterous fans who had been "riding" him.

Lionettes Topple Fiedler All-Stars

Playing their final home game before a near capacity crowd of 1200, the Orange Lionettes swamped the Fiedler Field All-Stars, 20-3, last night.

Lois Terry and "Bobby" Wakeham limited the All-Stars to four hits during the seven-inning fray, while the Orange girls were hammering Pitcher Morris for 13 hits and 20 runs, taking advantage of five errors.

The Lionettes had their big inning in the third, scoring eight times. Miss Terry and "Pat" Collins both hit home runs during the game.

Examiner tournament officials were reported today to contemplating seeding Orange in different brackets with three other top-ranking nines in next week's tournament.

The score:

'Doc' Smith's Homer Turns Tide, 5 to 3

Getting to Venn Botts for four runs in the fifth inning, Santa Ana came from behind to score its first victory over San Bernardino, 5 to 3, in the semi-final Shaughnessy playoff series at San Bernardino last night.

A home run by Manager "Doc" Smith climaxed the rally which started with the Stars trailing by two runs and apparently headed for their third successive defeat.

Tommy Young started it with a single to deep short. Mott went down swinging, but Fred Wiener blasted a long hit to left-center that tallied Young. Dory Strain, San Bernardino's center fielder, got to the ball but let it go through him and Wiener went all the way around, tying the score at two-all. Wiener's drive was scored as a double and an error for Strain. "Chuck" Comstock followed with a single to center. Schwarm sacrificed, and that brought up Smith. He socked the first ball pitched to right-center—a long, high fly that chased Strain and Ed Daley far back on the grass. Strain finally got his hands on the ball but couldn't hold it and Smith completed the circuit. That made it 4-2 in Santa Ana's favor and it meant the ball game.

Young produced the Stars' fifth run in the ninth when he tripled to right-center and came in when Strain momentarily juggled the ball after making a nice stop.

Jim Coates was back on the ridge for Santa Ana and came up with a seven-hit performance. The Ponies peeked away at him now and then but he got some dandy support, especially from "Nan" Coats and Comstock. ### Padres Make 9 in 9th, Lose in 10th

(By United Press)
Sacramento and San Diego swapped places in the Pacific Coast league pennant chase again today, with Sacramento going into first and the Padres dropping back into second as a result of their respective fortunes in last night's combats.

Sacramento beat Oakland, 5-3 in 10 innings to give Bob Klinger his 18th win of the season.

San Diego bowed before the San Francisco Seals, 16-15, in a wild game. The Seals were ahead 15-6 going into the ninth with Ed Stutz, while being hit freely, apparently controlling the game. Then he blew up, Frank Lamanske came in and went out quickly and Win Ballou was called in to put out the fire.

Before he succeeded San Diego had 9 hits and the score was tied 15-15. The Seals came back in their half for a run to win out.

NEW YORK—Max Schmeling is boosting himself when he says that the knocking and knockout he dealt Joe Louis a year ago last June left the young Negro gun-shy, but the German has been so right on the Brown Bomber from the outset that one is inclined to string along with him until he is proven wrong.

Schmeling professes that his principal concern is that somebody else will beat Louis out before he gets another whack at him.

And having watched Louis through 15 rounds with Tommy Farr, you rather suspect that Schmeling has considerable cause for apprehension.

There was ample evidence that Farr violated all the fine old traditions of British heavyweights in more ways than one. He not only remained vertical but he flicked with an open left glove, backhanded, and struck low.

Braddock circled to his right to keep away from Baer's right, Farr circled to his left to render the fire of Louis' left hook ineffective. There would be the agony fight to end agony fights—Braddock circling to his right and Farr circling to his left.

At that, Louis and Farr would have been given the chucks, or heavers, as we say in Greenpoint, had their names been Jones and Smith.

Farr couldn't have hurt Louis

if my private statistician is not in error this is the fifth "iron clad" contract Schmeling has had. The first four all developed rust spots, however, and under the steady fire of opposing legal batteries, proved about as invulnerable as a house of cards built on shifting sands at high tide.

Schmeling, a tough Teuton to discourage, says this latest one— which was given to him by Promoter Mike Jacobs yesterday—represents the last word in armament.

Contract Foolproof
Knowing a thing or two about Jacobs' fistic lawyer, Sol Straus, and his boast that "every right contract has a flaw," Schmeling took no chances with this one. He had his own counsel give it the works. First he translated it into German to see if it read okay in that language. Then he tried French, Portuguese, Scandinavian, and all other languages, including the jibberish of the Pango-Pango headhunters.

It was perfect. Still not content, he had every period, apostrophe, semi-colon, colon (both long and short), parenthesis, and hyphen examined under a microscope. This was a wise move, because Lawyer Straus needs nothing more than a slightly off-center punctuation mark to break contracts wide open. It is reported that Straus broke the one Tommy Farr had with Schmeling, for a fight in London, on the strength of an uncrossed "r" and the misuse of a capital letter.

One thing about the contract between Schmeling and Jacobs—it certainly makes Max the promoter's "little man" until September, 1939. Max must fight under Jacobs' banner, must do bodily harm only to those warriors named by Jacobs, and must fight only when Jacobs says so.

Covers Everything
Other clauses said to be in the contract call for Schmeling to wear nothing but blue serge suits, eat no kind of salad save that made of sliced bananas and grated peanuts, tie a handkerchief about his head when playing tennis (one for singles, two for doubles), and walk on stilts every time it rains.

Now that Schmeling has been guaranteed a shot at Louis and the heavyweight title it will be interesting to observe next year, when the German starts training, if the things he said about Joe after the Farr fight come back to haunt him.

It will be remembered that Max interviewed after the recent fight, said many highly uncomplimentary things about the champion. He said he had hit the skids; that his punch was gone; that he was gun-shy and afraid, and that he (Schmeling) could knock him out six times a week with the greatest of ease. If these words are dug into next June, it will be embarrassing to the publicity drum-beaters. It is not easy to build up the tremendous interest necessary to make a million-dollar gate when, by one of the principal's own admission, his opponent is a palooka of the most round-heeled sort.

Schmeling will need more tact than he has shown to date to make those words forgotten.

Louis the first lies in state in his dressing room at Yankee Stadium while his handlers tenderly care for his hurts, which included a badly damaged prestige, a sore left cheek, two puffed lips, a wounded pride, and a swollen right eyebrow, suffered in his unexpectedly tough 15-round fight with ralliant Tommy Farr. Joe, the champion, picked to win by a quick knockout, had to be content with a decision, appearing gun-shy against the unorthodox English challenger.

Louis no longer cares to run the risk of being swatted solidly on what Will Gibson called the old potato.

If Louis had nothing more in mind in the Farr match than the successful defense of the championship, he would have been called a highly satisfactory one, but the job cost him a pile of prestige.

And I am of the opinion that the myth that was Joe Louis, the superfighter, definitely has been dissipated.

As Schmeling asserts with pardonable pride, a couple of foreign fighters had to be brought to this country to demonstrate that Louis was no one of whom to be afraid.

All an opponent of Smoky Joe has to have, it seems, is the courage to question his right to boss the works. Certainly, Farr, the cocky coal miner, had little else.

Louis, I fear, was a study in American mob psychology. The Alabama-born dandy was rushed to the front at a time when the field was believed had over a heavyweights. Through the medium of a string of stumble bums has built up as a dark destroyer, a jaw-breaker from "way back, the most devastating hitter since Jack Dempsey.

A mediocre lot was caught by the spell. Primo Carnera, King Louis, Max Baer, Charley Retzlaff and some more heard and read so much about Louis' punching power that they crawled through the ropes with only one thought—getting out with their lives.

So Louis went along bowling them over until he convinced a large majority of the shrewder judges that he was all they said

ATTRACTIONS IN LOCAL THEATRES

DICK POWELL AT BROADWAY

"Varsity Show," a musical comedy along altogether new lines, starring Dick Powell, Priscilla Lane, Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians, Ted Healy and featuring many others, and "Outlaw of the Orient," with Jack Holt, Mae Clarke, James Bush and Harold Huber, screen beginning today at the Broadway. Continuous performances will be put on, beginning at 12:45 p. m. Labor Day.

Color cartoon and Fox Movie-tone news are added attractions. "Varsity Show," a melodious, laughable, fast-paced tale of college life as the movie-makers see it and as, doubtless, all college boys and girls wish it to be. The Pomona College girls clubs are seen in this delightful musical.

It is the story of a student body which wished to stage a show but couldn't do it successfully until it was in a graduate. Dick Powell, then a Broadway producer with a goody partner, Ted Healy, to direct.

Breath-taking drama of the red-blooded action type highlights Columbia's "Outlaws of the Orient" which opened yesterday starring Jack Holt and with Mae Clarke in the featured feminine role. Set in the colorful Orient, "Outlaws of the Orient" presents Holt as an American oil company foreman, who, two days before his marriage to a New York society girl, must hurry back to the Gobi desert to gain a new contract. Plenty of adventure occurs before Holt is able to marry.

Miss Durbin Is To Star In Comedy

Almost an all-star cast will be in the cast of "100 Men and a Girl," which stars the beautiful Deanna Durbin on the West Coast screen beginning September 10. It was revealed today. Such names as Adolph Menjou, Mischa Auer, Eugene Pallette, Billy Gilbert, Alma Frueger and Frank Jenks will be spotlighted in the billing.

Universal is said to be planning some radical departures from the usual formula, in this production. What they are is being held a close secret. The story is comedy and relates of an impoverished musician, Menjou, father of the beautiful 14-year-old Deanna, and his unsuccessful attempt to get a job

GREAT FILM SCREENING SUNDAY AT WALKER HAS ALL-STAR CAST

One of the great sea stories of modern literature, Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen, comes to Walker's tomorrow with "Captains Courageous," starring Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas. The picture scores a top-ranking spot. "Melody for Two," with James Melton, idol of the radio, in the leading song-making role, with Patricia Ellis, Winifred Shaw, Marie Wilson and a score more, is second feature. The Louis-Farr "Love-pat" bout episode in which gloves were used by the contestants and which caused some fight fans to believe Farr became the more "romantic," is shown round-by-round on the same program. In "Captains Courageous," Freddie Falls overboard from a liner, is picked up by fishermen who find him a "spoiled brat" but make of him a "man." Mickey Rooney also is in the cast with the actors who make a grand picture of this story. "Melody for Two" features six songs, "September in the Rain"; "Joe O'Neill, the Cuban Heel"; "Dangerous Rhythm"; "An Excuse for Dancing"; "A Flat in Manhattan"; and "Melody for Two." Theme of the picture is the stiff competition between musical organizations—and it's a dandy.

Wallace Beery, above, takes a leading part in the screen story of the famous bad man, "Billy the Kid," who comes to the State screen tomorrow in the film of that name. Second feature is the delightful "Here Comes the Band" musical with a host of fun and music maker.

with Stokowski's orchestra—his daughter's success. Few if any players have been so fortunate as Miss Durbin in winning public favor. The reason may be found in the success of her first picture, "Three Smart Girls," her personality and singing ability.

STAR TRIO IN MEDICO FILM

Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce are the three big names in the cast of "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," a sophisticated domestic triangle melodrama with a comedy contrast, screening at the Broadway beginning Wednesday. Second feature brings Joan Rogers, Dick Purcell and William Gargan to the screen in Universal's "Reported Missing," which combines the speed and thrills of aviation with a modern mystery plot. Color cartoon and latest news are added to the program.

The finale of "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," is being pointed to assure a surprise and novelty. The two women decide to withdraw from their rivalry for the doctor's affections but only succeed in making things so miserable for those directly concerned that a unique compromise is effected.

Jane Darwell, Sidney Blackmer, Minna Gombel and Margaret Irving are added to the well-selected cast. "Reported Missing" deals with the adventures of a young inventor who perfects a navigating device for the giant transport planes of a major airline—and then sees plane after plane, depending upon his instrument, plunge to destruction.

Gargan and Miss Rogers are supported by an outstanding cast of favorites, including Purcell, Joe Sawyer, Michael Fitzmaurice, Hobart Cavanaugh, and Billy Wayne.

SERVICES RESUMED
WESTMINSTER, Sept. 4. — With the vacation of the pastor church, Rev. George N. Greer, ended the regular schedule of services will be resumed on Sunday, with the pastor occupying the pulpit at the 10:30 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock services. Christian Endeavor will resume the usual 6:30 o'clock meeting hour.

Musical And Newspaper Film To Show
Heading the gala talent revue in "New Faces of 1937," musical with plenty of comedy, are Joe Penner, Harriet Hilliard, Milton Berle and Parkyakarkus, William Brady, Jerome Cowen, Thelma Leeds and 100 new faces are scheduled to appear on Walker's screen beginning Thursday.

Second picture is a vehicle for some fast action by Lee Tracy—it's "Behind the Headlines," cleverly plotted newspaper story. The story of "New Faces of 1937" is built upon a backstage theme and five colorful production numbers are introduced during the picture's screening. The musical score is one of the season's brightest.

Diana Gibson, Philip Huston, Donald Meek, and other favorites are in the supporting cast of the Lee Tracy picture. As a radio reporter, Tracy scoops his newspaper rivals by sending news flashes from the scenes of action over a tiny short-wave apparatus. Colored cartoon and world news are added attractions.

Freddie Bartholomew, Lionel Barrymore and Spencer Tracy, above left to right, are leading an all-star cast in "Captains Courageous," Kipling sea saga, screening tomorrow at Walker's. Second feature brings James Melton, Patricia Ellis and Winifred Shaw in "Melody for Two," musical comedy. The Louis-Farr fight also is shown.

JIMMIE FIDLER IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4. — Idol chatter: Too bad Eddie Cantor's new picture, "All Baba," is being shot in black and white—I have never seen such colorful costumes. John Beal has the leading role in an opus entitled "Women Without Men"—wonder if he should feel insulted? Thought Marlene Dietrich was dramatizing her grief when John Gilbert died, but she still puts flowers on his tomb every week. Tip to Mischa Auer: better get rid of that slave bracelet you have been wearing—it looks too damned silly for words! I hope a certain producer's wife never finds out how much money he lost in a recent poker game with the boys.

Makes me feel as old as Methuselah to see Mitzel Green a grown-up young lady. Joan Crawford's afternoon teas on the set are becoming a daily event and her director is muttering. Collector's notes: Sophie Tucker's assortment of Ancient time-pieces has been appraised at $200,000. Some of the glamour girls who are so vain about their beauty would be humbled if they could see pictures of May Robson in her twenties. Credit the Gable influence for Carole Lombard's new hobby, target shooting—and the girl is good at it, too.

Life's little ironies: Marjorie Gatenon was brought to Hollywood because of her singing ability; to date she has worked in fourteen pictures as a commedian and has never warbled a note. No more make-up for Joan Marsh—skin is allergic to grease paint. Funny how producers will turn thumbs down on an actor—and then fight for his services after he makes a hit on the stage. Look alike: Fred MacMurray and U. S. Open golf champ, Ralph Guldahl.

Spent an hour this morning on the set where Hollywood's newest and most "colossal" film is being produced. Between scenes the stage resembled the Mohammedan idea of Paradise—scantly-clad beauties everywhere. Some spent their time practicing intricate dance steps, some laughed and gossiped, some knitted and others—fifty percent of the lot, at least—read. Seized by a sudden curiosity to know the type of reading matter that would appeal to professional chorines, I checked up—and I have been nursing an inferiority complex ever since. The first six titles jotted down in my notebook were: "Life and Times of Marie Anthony," "Finley Wren," "Anchor Man," "Cyrano de Bergerac," "Let Me Die Tuesday," and "How to Earn Money at Home." All that saved my wounded ego was the discovery of one curvaceous little blonde, chewing gum ecstatically while she devoured a copy of "True Confessions."

After hearing Andy Devine deliver a line of dialogue on the set, Alice Brady asked the director what was wrong with his voice. "Wrong?" exclaimed the director. "Nothing, it's perfect!" But Alice was still concerned and when Andy came off the set, asked him why he doesn't have that voice fixed. "What?" shouted Andy. "Have that voice fixed and go back to driving a truck. You're crazy!"

FIVE YEARS AGO THIS SUM-

MER—A son was born to "Hollywood's happiest couple," John Barrymore and Dolores Costello. Helen Hayes was sued for alienation of affections by the first Mrs. Charles MacArthur. Ruth Chatterton divorced Ralph Forbes and married George Brent. Jean Harlow married Paul Bern. Bette Davis and Harmon O. Nelson eloped to Yuma. Sam Goldwyn predicted in a signed story that Anna Sten would be the screen's greatest star. John Gilbert and Virginia Bruce were married in a simple ceremony attended only by intimate friends. Gene Raymond stated in an interview that he would never marry an actress. Claudette Colbert, judged "through" in pictures, was given a new lease on life by a vamp role in "Sign of the Cross." Garbo made a trip to Sweden—and every fan magazine printed predictions that she would never return.

The champion worrier of all Hollywood is William Powell. Preferably, he worries about weighty matters but lacking those—and a man with a million dollar contract often finds himself at a loss for full-grown troubles—he still manages to do a masterly job of making mountains out of mole hills, too small for the average person's notice. I chafed with him on the set this morning and found him in a perfect stew about a newspaper prediction that a new business slump is close at hand. Like a good Samaritan, I tried to cheer his day, but he would have none of my optimism. "Listen," he said, "I'm where I am today because I was afraid of poverty. I worried myself into success—and nobody's going to stop me now." And so I left him on the verge of a breakdown—but happy.

Had lunch in the Twentieth Century cafe and—as usual—the Ritz Brothers were there, clowning like maniacs for the entertainment (?) of the customers. And after watching them grandstand, I came away resolved to write something particularly nasty about the egotism of some comedians. But it is no go—I have wasted a lot of paper and energy and achieved nothing the censors would allow in print. So I guess I will have to keep my opinions to myself.

"The Rangers Step In," starring Bob Allen with Eleanor Stewart, heads the special State program which ends with final screenings tonight. The program includes "Goofs and Saddles," a three-stooge comedy; "Porky's Super Service," cartoon; "Jungle Jim," chapter 6 and news. Then there is added the 31-minute lens screening of the Louis-Farr bout, ring-side, the management stating the fight pictures will be held over several more days.

'THIN ICE' WILL THRILL YOU —NOT CHILL—AT WEST COAST

With Darryl Zanuck in charge of the production, Twentieth Century-Fox studios have produced one of the year's film masterpieces in the picture "Thin Ice," starring Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power, the critics say. And the critics usually know what's what about movie fare.

This picture, with a fine cast, is screening today at the West Coast where it will stay several more days, including Labor day when continuous shows will run from 12:45 p. m.

"Thin Ice" is a splendid musical, full of songs, beautiful women, romance and riotous fun and includes in its cast, Joan Davis, Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn, Sig Rumann, Alan Hale.

Leah Ray and George Givot. If you liked Miss Henie in "One in a Million," you will like her just as much again.

The 13th in the series of popular "Hopalong Cassidy" pictures from Clarence E. Mulford's pen, "Hopalong Rides Again," with William Boyd, George Haynes and Russell Hayden, is second feature of the program, while a Merry Melody cartoon in color and world news are offered as shorts. This "Hopalong" picture was filmed near Lone Pine in the High Sierras. The picture introduces a new child star, young Billy Lee, whose riding and roping in addition to dramatic ability, seem certain to have won him a large following of fans.

SOTHERN, RAYMOND STAR WEDNESDAY

"There Goes My Girl," co-starring a popular screen team, Ann Sothern and Gene Raymond, in a high-voltage newspaper drama and "That I May Live," featuring Robert Kent and Rochelle Hudson, in a deep moving story of a steadfast love, form the double-bill attraction at the State Wednesday and Thursday. A travelogue is added attraction.

Miss Sothern and Raymond, on rival newspapers, are in love and her city editor thinks sentimentality is the "bunk" and a marriage might result in his losing a star reporter. He side-tracks the wedding twice but eventually the reporters outsmart him. Although primarily a skilled work of entertainment, "That I May Live" brings up some interesting questions concerning what might happen to a young man following release from prison. J. Edward Bomberg also has a featured role in the picture.

Red-Blood Film Is To Be State Fare On Friday

For those red-blooded fans who like their entertainment served rare, the State will present Columbia's outdoor drama, "Two-Fisted Sheriff," Friday and Saturday next week, with Charles Starrett and Barbara Weeks in the leading roles.

Starrett's last picture was "Two-Gun Law." His popularity has been mounting rapidly and is in the star class. In "Two-Fisted Sheriff," Starrett is seen as a young, fearless sheriff who fights against lynch law much to annoyance of citizens who vote him into office.

"Blond Bomber," a Joe Palooka comedy; "House Cleaning Blues," Popeye laugh cyclone; "Jungle Jim," chapter 7 and newsreel are added attractions.

Closing Tonight

"It Happened One Night," co-starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, screens for the last times tonight along with "Case of the Stuttering Bishop," mystery story with Donald Woods and Anna Dvorak. The blow-by-blow account of the Louis-Farr heavyweight championship bout will screen on the same program but will be held over for several more days, with the new program, beginning Sunday. "It Happened One Night" took highest honors for the year, granted by the Motion Picture Academy and Gable and Miss Colbert won highest honors for their work in the picture. Ever person who thinks Louis outthought the Welshman, should not fail to see the picture.

"The Rangers Step In," starring Bob Allen with Eleanor Stewart, heads the special State program which ends with final screenings tonight. The program includes "Goofs and Saddles," a three-stooge comedy; "Porky's Super Service," cartoon; "Jungle Jim," chapter 6 and news. Then there is added the 31-minute lens screening of the Louis-Farr bout, ring-side, the management stating the fight pictures will be held over several more days.

'BILLY KID' IS STATE FEATURE

"Billy the Kid," King Vidor's MGM picture, starring Johnny Mack Brown and Wallace Beery, opening tomorrow at the State is a "western" story, but not a fictional one. Although the story is based on Walter Noble Burns' "The Saga of Billy the Kid," the plot is not a figment of imagination, but the recreation of a historical character, the notorious William Bonney, known as "Billy the Kid," who, though but 21, gained reputation as the most dangerous man of the west.

Second feature, "Here Comes the Band," is a big parade of music, romance and thrills with an all-star cast, including Ted Lewis and orchestra; Virginia Bruce, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Harry Stockwell, Donald Cook and Spanky McFarland. This lively musical includes the song hits "Headin' Home," "Roll Along, Prairie Moon," "You're My Thrill" and many others.

"Roaring West," Chapter 1, and the full 15 rounds of the Louis-Farr championship bout, are added attractions.

In "Billy the Kid," Vidor does not try to give all of the melodramatic career of this young man but all of the highlights are retained, thrillingly. Others of the cast are Kay Johnson, Wyndham Standing, Roscoe Ates and many others. In the serial, "Roaring West," of 15 episodes, Buck Jones is seen as the cowboy who leads the forces in attempting to locate the claims, battling furiously with an outlaw band bent on getting his property. Muriel Evans, William Desmond and Frank McGlynn, sr. are cast with Jones.

Warm Interest
Expressed In Wedding Rites

At 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, in the patio court of Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside, will occur a wedding of quiet beauty when Miss Eleanor Ralston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Ralston, 1802 Bush street, becomes the bride of Dr. Ralph White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. White, 318 South Lyon street.

Just a few of the closer friends of the young people were hidden to join the relatives assembled for the services which will be conducted by the Rev. George A. Warner, D. D., former pastor of Santa Ana First M. E. church, and now serving the Riverside First church.

Because the young people will leave later this evening for the north, Miss Ralston has chosen for her bridal attire, the modish autumn tulle in maple shade, with slippers in the same shade, and a touch of vivid green introduced by her smart hat and its matching scarf. Her flowers will be white in corsage arrangement. An interesting bit of sentiment in connection with her costume will be the quilted little gold cross locket for the occasion by Miss Loretta Spangler. This cross has been worn by other brides, including Miss Spangler's sister, Miss Helen Spangler when she became Mrs. Donald Plumb a year ago, and Miss Florence Brownbridge when she and Crawford Lane were married two years ago.

As a background for today's rites, the heavy doors of the court into the St. Cecilia chapel, will be closed, and there Miss Ralston and Dr. White will stand for their exchange of vows.

Guests will linger in the patio for the reception hour which will be given the correct bridal atmosphere by flowers and music. There will be the traditional cake-cutting ceremony for the bride, and ices in wedding bell and slipper molds will be served with the cake and coffee.

When Dr. White and his bride return from two weeks in San Francisco and other northern California points, it will be to the apartment awaiting them at Eighth street and Riverine avenue. Dr. White will resume his duties as one of the resident physicians at Orange County General hospital.

Since to pick up the spashul school section of the Los Angeles Times and see the familiar lineaments (face to you—and a pretty one) of Ruth Ann Walker, now Missus Clyde W. Spears, who seems to be putting her piano pupils through some interesting paces and presenting them in quite brilliant radio programs. Ruth Ann has a quaint and charming studio home in Los Angeles, and it was there, "know, that folks learned that Elton (Bionde Newspaper Gal) and Roy Joslyn (Newshound) Wellman had been Mister and Missus for a year—Dear me suz! That was 'way back in April. . . . When Lena (D. A. V.) Hewitt and Ralph (Doc and Sons of Vets.) Barrett said "I do" the other day, it was on the 23rd anniversary of the day when Bride Lena's son, Roscoe (Ins.) Hewitt and Clara Duggan said the same words. . . . Comes word of the wedding of a former Santa Ana gal of Wrecked Maedgen, Wilma Louise Moehrl of Monrovia, who was married in Arcadia on August 29 to B. Larmann McDermott.

Do you like to browse through antique shops and places like that as do the Ebell Antique section members? Merabel (Mrs. George) Angne is gloating over a choice collection now at Good Will Industries where she and Husband George have been arranging a special corner for old and unusual things. "You'd be surprised how many prominent citizens enjoy rummaging around in here," they say. Sounds like a good browsing hint to us. . . . Dorothy (Mrs. Neil) Stanley is one of the city's prize browsers. . . . Emmaline (Bride-lect) Dinkler is one of the most vivacious blondes we've seen. She and Elmer (Olive) Luchau aren't announcing the date for their wedding beyond admitting it will be in the spring. . . . But Clara (Riverside) Goeman and Don (Brakeman) Davis admit they will be married September 19 in St. Joseph church. . . . We remember when Persana Deimling was one of the most charming gals on the high school campus and she is now Missus Conrad Weil Jr. and her young son, Conrad III, is here Labor Day with his Grandpa Helene and W. L. Deimling. . . . Didja know that Norma (Pharmacist) Wingood now has charge of that important department over at the Anaheim clinic?

Add to our Chuckles Dept. — Sometime when you think about it, ask George S. (Mortician) Smith or George S. (Sportsman) Briggs about the special fertilizer they purchased once upon a time, with visions of having the finest imaginable stand of grass in their respective gardens. Alas! The grass didn't even know it was being enriched, while as for the garden walks—well they almost disintegrated for so "they say". . . . Su Maru may sound to you like the name of one of the Japanese liners, but it isn't. It is the name with which Susan Mary (Baiboa Traveler) Rutherford has christened her new speedboat, now darting over the surface of the bay. . . . Hint to friends of Dorothy (Teacher) Jesse—the new car in which she recently returned from the east after touring New England, is a sedan, lotsa room for her friends. . . . Lee (Escrow Officer) Smith is passing out sea-garbs on accounta Edward Lee Smith III, born to Pretty Wife Helen on August 28. . . . Have you seen the new haircut and coiffure of Ruth (Mrs. John) Colwell? Quite effective. . . . John (Attorney) Colwell, by the way, is in direct Community Players' activities as the year's prexy. . . . Speaking of names, we've often wondered if Laura and Kenneth (Cash Register) Fugit daily thank their stars that Kenneth's parents weren't afflicted with that weird sense of humor that might have made them christen him "Tempus". . . . Florence and Crawford (Ins.) Nyle are already making plans for a vacation in Hallowe'en month when they will go gallivanting all over the state, visiting such folks as Clara Kate and Edward (Physical Ed. Coach) Adams in Salinas, and Marcia and Kenny (Rancher) Price in Fresno. . . . Those three blonde beauties, Ruth (Mrs. John) Newman, Audrey (Mrs. Bud) Zaisan and Beth (Mrs. Don) Harwood joined forces 't'other day to give a swank party at Our Village.

Stamp News

FOUR countries have now announced plans to issue postage stamps in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the U. S. Constitution. They are France, Ecuador, Honduras and Venezuela.

France intends to print 7,000,000 of the one-franc, 50 centimes denomination to be used in international postage. Honduras plans to issue 200,000 stamps equivalent to our five-cent denomination. The other two nations have not announced these details. Designs for none of these issues have been indicated.

A national society of first-day cover collectors is now being formed by Philadelphia collectors and dealers. Full details may be secured through Herbert L. Schatz, 1033 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

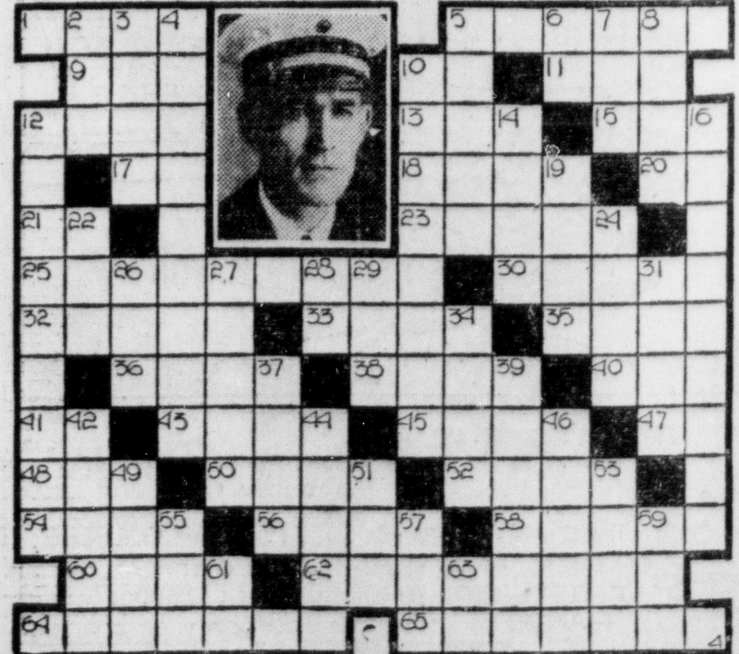

Boycott of all future issues of souvenir sheets is threatened unless the panes are placed on general sale and in sufficient quantities to fill the demand of philatelists throughout the world. Many nations have printed miniature sheets and sold them as a special favor to groups that have controlled supply and price. As a result collectors have had to pay large premiums. Some philatelic experts go so far even as to raise the question whether such issues are really postage stamps since these panes are theoretically available for postal duty, though never obtainable by the public for that purpose.

France, it's reported, is preparing a 10-franc adhesive in connection with the dedication of the American war memorial at Mont-faucon. The French government issued 40,000 postcards with a special one franc stamp on the day of dedication.

A social hour, at which new members of the Music Lovers' group were welcomed, was held, at which Mrs. Floyd Case, chairman, was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Robert Leitfried, Mrs. Edmund Kiernan, and Miss Maude Robertson. General arrangements for last night's events were handled by Mrs. Jessie Riddell, who presided.

Straws In The Wind

By GEORGE MARCOUX

HOW ABOUT YOUR LAWN?
A great deal of lawn renovation is done in this county during the fall months. By far the cheapest method of keeping the lawn is careful seeding and heavy feeding. This will gradually develop such a fine thick sod that other grasses and weeds can't get a foothold. We carry all regular grasses in the fancy qualities, and recommend VIGORO for the best.

SELF-MADE HIGHWAYS

It wouldn't happen in the United States because people here are too long accustomed to comparatively tender government care. In British Columbia the residents of a section north of Prince George are building community highway 135 miles long. Canadian newspapers are bowing their heads in shame that official lethargy should require individual road-building.

But from another point of view it is definitely admirable when a group of persons want a road badly and take the simple and direct method of building it themselves instead of spending the same energy grumbling when their autos get stuck.

NOTHING TO LOSE

The two reasons most prominently advanced for not invoking the U. S. neutrality act against China and Japan are that American trade interests would suffer heavily, and it would work a hardship on China, where the official sympathies presumably lie.

Those two excuses seem to have been already invalidated. Virtually all shipments to Shanghai have been halted or diverted and imports from China have been seriously curtailed, according to exporters, importers and bankers. With North China in its present condition of war, collections are hopeless and cargoes destined there have been recalled or sent elsewhere. Many orders from the Far East have been cancelled.

Even Japan, because of a lack of foreign balances, soon will be forced on a self-sufficiency basis, bankers assert.

That being the case, shippers obviously cannot benefit by a foreign trade which already has been figuratively blockaded. Neither can China be helped by supplies it doesn't get.

Invoking the neutrality act looks like a case of nothing to lose and everything to gain.

BUILDING NEW HOMES

City Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen in his report to the city council reveals the fact that $488,582 has been expended during the first eight months of this year in the construction of new homes. This indeed is encouraging.

Estimating the average new house at $5000 each it means that 100 new houses have been erected here since the first of the year. And our belief is that the estimate of $5000 is high and that more than 100 houses have been built.

Indications point to the fact that construction will be the highest in Santa Ana since 1931. The first eight months of 1937 show a decided gain over the corresponding period in 1936, Rasmussen's figures reveal. Permits issued in 1936 were 457 as compared to 799 this year. Total evaluation for the first eight months of 1936 was $721,961 while 1937 had $920,629, which is less than $80,000 short of the million predicted by Rasmussen.

The total construction this year for eight months is almost equal to the building figure for the entire year of 1936.

That merchants are sprucing up their places of business is revealed in the report. Alterations to business buildings for the last eight months amounted to $77,510. Apartments valued at $77,400 have been constructed during the same period.

A MEMORY AND A TRIBUTE

Most of us are too prone to accept as a universal truth, the frequently quoted Shakespearean saying that "The evil that men do lives after them, the good's too oft interred with their bones." We forget that every day we see evidences of humanitarian action that disprove this statement.

Memories of kindly deeds remain with us long after the passing of those who have done the deeds. Here's a little story of such a deed? Early in the summer occurred the passing of one of Santa Ana's prominent business men, H. D. McIlvain, stricken in his prime. His major business interest was the large dairy which he owned. Business and club associates saw in him, an excellent business man, a genial personality, and one whose chosen watchword might well have been "Success."

But not one of the people with whom he came in daily contact, knew or guessed, that every day, a completely stocked milk wagon was dispatched from his dairy with not a word or letter on it nor on the uniform of the driver, to indicate where it was from, and made the rounds of humble homes where the pinch of depression and poverty had been sorely felt. There were little children in those homes, or sick and ailing folk whose need of milk was just as great.

And every day that need was met. The milk was left, exactly as it was for those paying customers who had a standing order for their daily supply. But there was never a collector to call at the humble homes. There was no monthly bill rendered. There were no questions answered. There was just the steady delivery of life-giving milk.

Did you ever hear a story that did more towards renewing your faith in your fellow man? H. D. McIlvain did not permit this to be known while he lived. He would not want it to be known now. But we need to know about such generous and beautiful deeds. So to his memory we say "We are proud to have known you. Mizpah."

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

ASPIRATIONS FOR TRUE DEMOCRACY

While our Constitution never protected us as fully as it should from the tyranny of some of our grasping leaders, it protected us prior to 1913 from the despotism of majorities in our inalienable personal rights to the pursuit of happiness, so that we in the United States very little appreciate the benefits and the necessity of a wise constitution to protect us in these fundamental rights. We must regain this protection for minorities and further protect the majorities from the oppression of grasping leaders. For this reason, it would seem that we should set forth our aspirations for a desirable constitutional democracy.

True Democracy

A true constitutional democracy is AN ATTEMPT TO DISTRIBUTE ALL RESPONSIBILITY IN PROPORTION TO WORTHINESS SO AS TO CONTINUOUSLY STIMULATE THE LARGEST POSSIBLE PRODUCTION OF THE COMFORTS OF LIFE AND THEN TO SHARE THESE COMFORTS WITH ALL OUR PEOPLE—PRESENT AND FUTURE—in a manner that will NOT UNDULY RETARD PRODUCTION.

If we are to have responsibility in proportion to worthiness, certainly we cannot give those who are unwilling or incapable of assuming the responsibility of their own support the responsibility of equal vote (or any vote) in establishing laws governing the production and distribution of the comforts of life. Neither can we give those people who do not regard the responsibility of great wealth as a stewardship the unlimited right to use this power of wealth in a manner that does not add to the general welfare.

How to Bring This About!

It would seem that these aspirations can be brought about best by the following policies:

By not allowing those who secure subsidy or assistance from the government for their support the right to vote while they are being subsidized or assisted.

By the federal and state governments raising their income by a graduated tax on consumption, or spending, similar to the one introduced into congress by Ogden Mills and known as House Bill No. 7867; that is, these governments raising their income by taxing a man who spends or consumes $1000 worth of wealth a year for each member of his family more than twice as much as a man who spends or consumes only $500 a year per member of his family;

By a free and competitive system in production but not in consumption, with free enterprise and the government attempting to prevent artificial monopolies;

By the government exercising its rights, purely as a police measure, to establish a money system that does not permit excessive circulating credit to be used as money and, thus, rapidly raise and lower prices.

It would seem that these are the fundamentals necessary in attempting to bring about the aspirations as above outlined in order to preserve our personal rights and greatly raise the standard of living of all our people.

ETHICAL TEACHERS

"Nor is any ethical teacher entitled to express an opinion on an economic problem unless he has been at pains to master them," says J. A. R. Marriott in "Economics and Ethics."

No one could object to ethical teachers discussing the question of economic problems. The only question is whether or not they have made a careful study of the effects of their opinions in case they violate fundamental economic laws. Economic laws are just as fixed as the law of gravity.

It is extremely easy for ethical teachers to appear to be great benefactors to humanity by criticizing men who obey economic laws. Mr. Marriott also says, "Not the least urgent of these obligations is the duty to look before they leap and in particular to study before they speak." The love of money may be the root of all evil; but to misunderstand the true functions of money, to assign to them less or greater importance than they actually possess, is simply to darken counsel, to excite prejudice, and to embitter social relation. Knowledge here as elsewhere is the portico to the temple of charity."

There certainly is no book that more intelligently discusses ethics and social problems that we have come across than that of J. A. R. Marriott. Any man who makes any pretense of being interested in economics as it applies to ethics should certainly thoroughly study this masterpiece.—It is in the Santa Ana city library.

THE EFFECTS OF DIFFERENT KINDS OF TAXATION

In discussing the incidents of direct taxation, Marriott, former member of Parliament, definitely points out the effects of taxing wealth that would be used as capital. On this subject, he says, "If the direct taxes (referring to income tax) are paid out of revenue which would otherwise be spent on riotous living, no possible harm could, as we have already indicated, accrue to the community. If, on the other hand, they are paid out of the 'hoard' (referring to savings) the payment must entail a grievous loss to the community, and in particular to that portion of it which is dependent upon wages. If the State can, by its fiscal system, or otherwise, curtail unproductive expenditure and divert the money thus obtained into productive channels, the benefit is unquestionable. More generally, however, taxation involved a restriction of productive expenditure and a diversion of potential industrial capital into channels which, however innocent or morally justifiable, represent, in an economic sense, sheer waste."

For some twenty years we have been taxing not wealth used as luxuries but wealth that should be used to create jobs. This is one of the reasons of unemployment the last few years.

Embarrassing Moments

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

"OTHER REASONS" AND REFORM

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Short of Sherman's, the classic definition of war is that it is the continuation of policy by "other means." So the fairest definition of Toryism is that it is the obstruction of reform for "other reasons."

The multimillionaires admit themselves licked on the main line of argument. Of course, they are against Child Labor, of course they believe in justice to the farmer, of course they are strong for fair hours and decent wages for labor, of course they support democracy. Yet whenever there is a definite proposal for real reform along these social and economic lines, "other reasons" pop up like a litter of white rabbits in a high silk hat.

Everyone knew what was intended by the Child Labor Amendment—and if there was any doubt the Courts were there to go back and determine what was planned in this measure, which was drafted by the most conservative Republican attorneys in the Coolidge Congress.

Yet, when there was danger lest it be ratified last year, the same Republicans attacked it as "Youth Control" and convinced certain glib Catholic spokesmen that it meant federal interference with religious education and frightened farmers into a belief that ratification would forbid a father to have his own children help out with the chores.

Farm tenancy has been recognized as a great and growing evil, yet when the Roosevelt administration proposed to do something about it, the Congressional committees were horrified at the idea of establishing any co-operative agencies for the tenants. Because Soviet Russia had "collective farms," the American government could not do what was called for by the circumstances, lest it look like imported Socialism. When the Reconstruction administration relocated some Virginia mountaineers, a politician who owns large apple orchards objected to Washington's "interference" with the mountain "way of life"—and with his supply of pauper labor for the picking season. "Other reasons!"

For years it has been apparent that if we are to preserve capitalism in the face of technological unemployment, we must shorten the hours and increase the wages of industrial labor. Unless industry pays people, people cannot buy industry's goods—to put it in the simplest terms. Yet when a measure was proposed to effect this elementary reform, how the welkin rang! They are all for labor reform but John L. Lewis is a "dictator," the sit-down strike is "illegal," the C. I. O. is "Communist," the South is "menaced," etc., etc. Yes, they're all for justice to labor, in theory, but not just yet and not in exactly that form. "Other reasons" again!

For over 20 years it has been a tenet of American Progressivism and a principle of the liberal dogma that the supreme court should have a check on its usurped power to "say what the Constitution is." Yet when Roosevelt proposed his simple reform of the Federal judiciary, the Constitution was "in danger," Southern Senators said it raised the Negro issue, Catholics and Lutherans were bulldozed into saying that

THE CORPUS LUTEUM FUNCTIONS ONLY IN CHILDBIRTH, SO FAR AS IS KNOWN

This is the ninth of 20 stories by Dr. Fishbein on the glands of the body and their functions.

When a woman has undergone one of her periodic functions, and when the egg cell begins its journey away from the ovary into the tubes which carry it to the uterus, that part of the ovary from which the egg cell departed gives place to a structure called the corpus luteum.

Then the blood picks up from the corpus luteum a substance which has the possibility of causing extensive development of the tissues of the uterus. Obviously, therefore, the corpus luteum must be included among the glands of internal secretion.

As far as is now known, this gland has no really useful action, except in instances in which the woman concerned conceives and gives birth to a child. However, the corpus luteum is formed every month in anticipation perhaps of the possibility that the woman may have a child. The corpus luteum lasts about two weeks, after which it disappears until a new cycle begins.

From the corpus luteum investigators have isolated a substance which is called progesterin. This substance is closely related to the kind of material which appears in the urine of the woman who becomes pregnant, and also to a similar substance which appears in the urine of the man at various times.

It is possible in experiments on animals to produce the effects that have been described by injecting an extract of the corpus luteum or progesterin. The term "progesterin" means before childbirth.

Our knowledge of the glands is so new that little is thus far known of the possibilities in the treatment of disease or of various functional disturbances with this substance. It is possible, however, that in many instances in which a woman finds herself unable to have a child, the giving of this substance may aid in the development of the organs in such a way that the sterility will be overcome.

It seems possible also that the periodic functions of women may in some instances be disturbed because of failure to form corpus luteum suitably or to take advantage of the secretion. In such instances also the artificial giving of this secretion might be of service.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—When cotton prices slumped under a threatened surplus, fair Dixie shrieked: "Lookie! Lookie! Save my child! We want loans to peg the price at 17 cents." But Henry Wallace said: "Not unless you sell me your priceless liberty to plant what you please."

So congress promised a crop control bill delivering Dame Dixie and soul to Handsome Henry for a loan of nine cents, and a possible subsidy of as much as three cents if the prices drop below 12. But Mr. Wallace has the fair lady over the barrel on this because she doesn't get her three cents until next fall when she can see whether she actually has submitted to his hellish design to control her planting.

Congress has prostituted its legislative discretion for a promise of a loan of nine cents and a cluster of the fairest jewels in our diadem of states is to be asked to pander their's for three cents. What's going on here anyway?

The real case for the farmer is that, on surplus cash crops, his price is made not by American, but by world conditions. The former sells in a free trade market. But under our tariff system, he buys in a highly protected market and is gyped for the difference. It was only economic justice for Mr. Roosevelt to promise a "benefit equivalent to the tariff benefit to industry on the part of his crop consumed at home."

But that isn't what Mr. Wallace is doing. He is paying a benefit on the crop and trying to reduce farm production toward what the domestic markets will take. That puts our export prices so high that the world can't buy our surplus. Mr. Wallace is destroying the farmers export trade. The sheer atrocity of this is almost beyond belief.

Mr. Hoover frankly said that the solution of the farm problem is to starve out the export surplus.

but its only variation in Mr. Wallace's hands is to fengale out the export surplus.

This policy has financed cotton in other countries. Our share of world consumption has fallen from 63 per cent to 44 per cent — a gift to our competitors of markets for 3,000,000 bales — nearly 25 per cent of a normal crop. Brazil alone has increased her production by 1,000,000 bales.

We have lost our export markets for cattle, almost for wheat and lard, and are rapidly destroying it for cotton. It is plain economic insanity. Our farm surpluses reduce the prices of the entire production below cost or "parity," but a big crop costs relatively little more than a small one and these farm exports give livings to millions. So what? Starve them out — let Mr. Wallace dictate them out — or keep Mr. Roosevelt's campaign promise, subsidize farm prices up to "parity" on domestic consumption only and let export free?

It will cost the American consumer the same for food and clothing in either case, because, under the New Deal, exports or no exports, price parity is pledged. But free production will employ at least a million more people than Mr. Wallace's plan, be much better for the farmer, and avoid a hateful dictatorship for agriculture.

How shall we subsidize domestic consumption? Just the way it is going to be done by Mr. Wallace for the whole crop — by a sales tax on domestic consumption of food and clothing for the poor. Call it a "processing tax" if you want to be slick, but it remains a sales tax.

What difference does it make to workers whether the pay "parity" price by reason of a scarcity. Mr. Wallace will get them either way. But it would be a whole lot better and no costlier to let farmers produce what they will and pay a fair price for what we use at home.
